Good Morning!

Please put up your phones and take your seats.

If you have any questions about your grades, please come see me.

****If you did not complete the survey on Classroom, do so ASAP.

Figure 1

North: The direction of Action — "Just do it!"

Motivates and challenges others to get work started or keep it moving, tries new things.

West: The direction of Detail — wants to know the who, what, when, where, and why before acting. Reliable to get things done, organized.

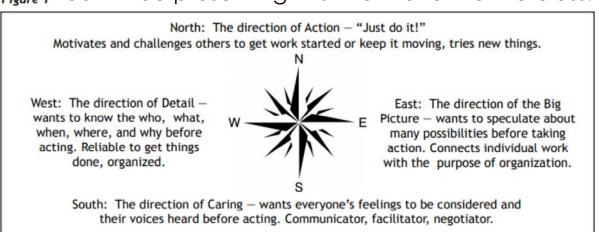

East: The direction of the Big Picture — wants to speculate about many possibilities before taking action. Connects individual work with the purpose of organization.

South: The direction of Caring — wants everyone's feelings to be considered and their voices heard before acting. Communicator, facilitator, negotiator.

With your groups:

- Strengths/weaknesses of your direction
- What do other people need to know about you so you can work together effectively?
- What do you value about the other directions?

Figure 1 You will be presenting this information to the class.

Figure 1

North: The direction of Action — "Just do it!"

Motivates and challenges others to get work started or keep it moving, tries new things.

West: The direction of Detail — wants to know the who, what, when, where, and why before acting. Reliable to get things done, organized.

East: The direction of the Big Picture — wants to speculate about many possibilities before taking action. Connects individual work with the purpose of organization.

South: The direction of Caring — wants everyone's feelings to be considered and their voices heard before acting. Communicator, facilitator, negotiator.

Questions:

- I. What happens if a group is missing a direction?
- 2. How would you group the "directions"? Why?
- 3. How can learning about the "directions" help you?
- 4. What do you think was the purpose of this activity?